I am of the opinion that Microsoft has done nothing but taken advantage of the opportunity that this country offers to everyone who wishes to use their ingenuity to better themselves. Microsoft has done nothing but make its products more attractive and cheaper. They have done a much better job of that than the automobile manufacturers. If you applied the pricing structure to the auto industry that Microsoft has applied to the computer industry, automobiles would be selling for $2500 a piece.

It is time to stop the witch hunt against Microsoft.
